Dear Irv:

The Board of Directors is pleased to invite you to become a member of the National Committee. I am delighted to inform you of this decision, and hope that you will accept our invitation.

Founded in 1966, the Committee is comprised of some 500 distinguished American business, professional, civic and academic leaders who share a belief that increased public understanding of China and U.S.-China relations is essential to the effective conduct of the nation's foreign policy. The Committee takes no policy positions, but seeks to stimulate public interest in a variety of ways. Our major focus is on facilitating educational, civic, world affairs, cultural and sports exchanges between China and the United States. We also engage in exchange-related educational activities by sponsoring public meetings, symposia and workshops, distributing reference materials, and providing a range of advisory services on China to other organizations. Enclosed are the Committee's Annual Report for Fiscal Year 1978, a brochure describing our work, and the most recent issue of our quarterly newsletter.

Notable exchanges under the Committee's auspices this year have included the visit to China of the Boston Symphony Orchestra and delegations of mayors and civic affairs organization leaders; and a visit to the United States by the first Chinese women's leadership delegation.

It is our hope that members will participate in the Committee's meetings and in local exchange-related programs. Members receive the quarterly newsletter, and periodic mailings of articles and reference materials we hope will be of interest. No annual dues are assessed, but members are invited to make voluntary contributions and to render whatever services they can in furthering the Committee's objectives.

I sincerely hope that you will join us, indicating through membership your interest in the National Committee's work. Please let us know by completing the enclosed card.

Sincerely,

Arthur H. Rosen

Dear Irv:

On behalf of the Board of Directors, may I say how pleased we are that you have agreed to join us as a member of the National Committee.

As an organization concerned with improving understanding between the United States and China, we rely upon the guidance and assistance of our members throughout the United States in the conduct of our exchange programs. We welcome you most cordially and look forward to your active participation in National Committee activities.

Sincerely,
